Over the Counter Naloxone:

Naloxone is a medicine that can be given in an opioid drug overdose to save someone's life. It can be given in the form of a nasal spray or injection into the thigh. This drug is similar to how an EpiPen works during a severe allergic reaction. Naloxone can now be purchased in many Kentucky pharmacies without a doctor's prescription. The web site below allows you to find the closest pharmacy to you that dispenses naloxone over-the-counter. Patients can also receive naloxone free of charge during their stay in a Norton Children's Hospital Emergency Department.
